With the Labor Day weekend not only comes the traditional end of summer, it also means that there are new elections for the CSCA Board of Directors. These elections were held during the Colorado Chess Festival, which was held this year at the newly renovated Sharaton Denver Tech center Hotel. This festival included the Colorado Open, the Colorado Quick, a simul and lecture with GM Alex Yermolinsky.

If you look at the left side of this page you can see a number of new faces on the board as well as a few returning members. Lets wish them all the best for the coming year and that under their leadership, chess will continue to grow in Colorado. As always, if you have any questions or concerns don't hesitate to contact any of them.

A few issues were voted on by the membership as well. The main issue, one that has been brewing for a year or so now - the Tour was faced. Speeches were made and after some debate the vote was cast by the membership to keep the Tour as is.

More on all the happenings at the Festival will be featured in the next issue of the Informant. There just was not enough production time to place them in this current issue. So this issue will look at the summer games that were played the past few months.

Once again I congratulate the 2012-2013 Board of Directors and I know that they will do Colorado Chess proud!

May Caissa be with you.

Past Champions: Ken Doykos (2010), Jiri Kovats (2011).

Players who finished in top 3 in 2012 Colorado CC: None Determined Yet.

Remaining spot(s) will be filled by players who have the highest USCF-CC rating.

All other players will play in one or more reserve sections.

CSCA membership required throughout 2013.

Open Letter to the CSCA Membership

by Paul Covington

Our annual meeting ran so long that I didn't get to talk about some of the things I had wanted to share. I also will recap the year in chess which I experienced as the President, and in so doing provide future Presidents a list of things that are traditional here in Colorado.

It all started at the Membership meeting in 2011. I was nominated and voted into office. It was a new experience. In the first board meeting I announced that all board meetings would be open and all actions transparent. The first order of business was reducing the costs for our Colorado Open. I started gathering information and bids from hotels in the Denver area. After getting the Sheraton to underbid the Doubletree (who would not bargain) in both room rates and tournament site rates, the fight began on the board. It was Sheraton by 4 votes to 3. Next came the Scholastic Closed and Colorado Closed questions of where and when. And the realization that changing the number of invitees would require re-writing the selection rules (which needed to be done anyway) and getting the re-writes approved by the board. Since the existing "rules" were very vague this became a process. The rewrites finally were approved and players invited with the invitations being given out at the Scholastic State Championships. Tom Nelson and staff did their normal great job with the State Scholastic event.

We conducted the second board meeting after the Scholastic tournament. During this time we were planning the Class Championships, the expanded Colorado and Scholastic Closed, the 1st Senior State Championship, the Rocky Mountain Team Chess Challenge (we were hosting so had to secure a site) and bringing or not bringing a "big-name" person to the Colorado Open to try to increase attendance. During this meeting, Vice President Joe Fromme presented his committee report about the Tour. And the fireworks began. Throughout these struggles I had a lingering question of whether or not the tour was broken. The report from Joe Fromme's committee (I had asked him to conduct an investigation of the facts) concluded that our membership could care less because they had no chance to win the tour. Essentially winning the Tour boiled down to: play even in the two day events while scoring high in the one day, faster time control events.

I met with Treasurer Richard "Buck" Buchanan a number of times but could not get him to investigate or face the facts in the data Larry had gathered clearly revealed. I didn't want to disrespect Buck because of his years of service to the CSCA so I kept trying to solve the tour question in a way that would be good for all. I all but gave up when as we entered yet another meeting, he said, "I don't care what you say, I am not going to agree". It was a very tense moment. I sincerely wanted to find a solution that would support Colorado chess and make the tour competitive. After a year and a half of study on the tour question (this debate had started the year before while I was still Secretary), I purposed a plan based on the data.

First, whether or not an event should be a tour event should be a decision of the CSCA board (the organization responsible for operating the tour in an orderly manner). Presently any TD or Organizer can decide "their event" will be a tour event. No minimum playing conditions for lighting, noise level, table size etc. are required. About this time I realized that three members of the CSCA Board were TDs who conducted tournaments that either were or could potentially be tour events. This meant any decision by the board regarding which local event would be selected to be a tour event would be wrapped in questions of partiality. I saw looming ethics questions in a never ending stream. So when I proposed a committee made up of persons without a tournament to "protect", the fireworks began. I saw each TD protecting their turf. This brought me to the realization that we had a deeper problem because things that should have been State Level decisions could not be made because Local Level TDs/Organizers were on the State Level Board and could protect their Local level interests. While I was trying to do what the data indicated was the best solution, I didn't feel that all the parties involved were interested in that ideal.

Second, the number of tour events would be limited so our members could attend all the events which would make the tour more competitive and also allow more members an opportunity to win their category. This works because the proposed events would be two day events that had a larger number of players and with fewer events the majority of our members "could attend all of the events" (leveling the playing field). The first year events would have been: Colorado Open (Denver), Class Championships (Colorado Springs), one in Denver, one in Colorado Springs area, and one in the Ft Collins/Greeley area. Other cities/areas could be added in subsequent years by applying to the Board.

The tour would be reviewed every year in the board meeting just prior to the Colorado Open to ensure the tour was meeting the established goals of increasing the competitiveness and attendance at tour events.

I tried to establish that the Board is a State level function (in the National level—State level—City/Club/Local level model). I explained the need to treat the CSCA as a 501(c)3 Not-for-Profit business and not as a local chess club. I wanted to get CSCA in alignment with established not for profit operating principles. The biggest failure in this area was not insisting on getting a board approved budget established. I did try but without support.

Getting the events scheduled throughout the year, getting a GM of Alex Yermolinsky's ability and class to attend our event (if you missed his lecture on "Stalemate", you missed a fantastic lecture), trying to do all with total openness and without stepping on people's toes has been an exhausting chore—everyone should be President for a year to experience the satisfaction of setting the goals and standards then seeing most of them reached.

The Colorado Open was an unqualified success. 126 in attendance, and we did pay out slightly more than the advertised prize fund and instead of losing over a thousand dollars as predicted in one of the fights among your friendly board members, we actually made about 20 dollars on the event. The real test is whether there is more money in the bank now than there was a year ago.

The members' meeting was a mess. I should have appointed a timekeeper to prevent over runs of the standard 5 minute time allocated for making your positions and "vote for me speeches". I apologize for allowing that meeting to get out of control.

I had serious disagreements with some of the things said during that meeting but there was not time to discuss them. I believe the way to build an organization is through hard work and not by hoping for an outside contributor to support your hobby for your benefit. I do not have anything against Obi, we just disagree on how to reach our goals. The hard work and vision that I had for the Colorado Open weekend yielded great results. Will that happen every time? I don't know.

In the tour discussion, some of the things said in the Tour debate did not include the complete picture. A big point was made that the Pueblo games were not removed from the tour—that was not the intent of the statement I had made. Without the Pueblo games in the Tour (for whatever reason), the tour righted its self and the winner this year was a person who performed well in two day, longer time control events where he was not the highest rated player by a couple of hundred rating points—just as Larry's data had predicted.

The other point made was quality and quantity chess.... I am not quite convinced that playing 5 or 10 or 30 minute chess games in a coffee house with piped in music, and guys trying to pickup girls conversations can ever have the same level of quality play that a US Closed Championship event has. You may say that's not the same—and you would be right. All the high quality events have tightly controlled playing conditions. The proposed tour changes were intended to bring the player tour games with adequate thinking time (G90/+30 or greater), quiet conditions, good lighting, consistent sized tables and chairs—in other words—some standards for our playing conditions, before an event could become a tour event. In meetings this was derailed by those who didn't want to answer to or have a person in authority over them.

Also rejected over and over again was the two tour solution. The plan was adding a one day tour in the second year that would be a coffee house tour—primarily Quick Chess, so more "old timers" would be willing to play as their hard earned Standard Rating would not be affected. The reoccurring argument against wasn't to discuss how to make the tour better rather just to repeatedly declare the "tour isn't broken", end of discussion. I believe in fairness and honesty. That includes presenting both sides of a discussion. I never heard any answers to Larry's data showing the problems of an unregulated tour. I still believe regulating the tour is the best policy.

Three really good TDs will determine the shape of the Tour until the system that a TD determines whether or not an event is a tour event and what playing conditions are acceptable is changed. For now this debate is set aside. The present form of the tour was retained by vote in the membership meeting; I do not believe a fully informed membership would have voted that way.

The vote to accept changes to the by-laws, moving the CSCA into the electronic age, went as expected. The vote on reducing membership dues did not pass—that surprised me. I figured everyone would vote to reduce their dues. I appreciate this vote as it will help the new board to have money to promote Colorado Chess.

I had wanted to introduce a change in the term of office for four key members of the organization. I wanted to have the President and Secretary on one cycle and the Vice President and Treasurer on another cycle. The idea would promote consistency on the board. After concept approval, the President and Secretary would be elected to a one year term while the Vice President and Treasurer would be elected to a two year term. Next year at the election the President and Secretary would be elected to a two year term. The Vice President and Treasurer would still have one year to serve so no election for them. The "At Large" members (one elected by the members and the other by the board) and the Scholastic representative (one) would all have one year terms and annual elections. This is the one I withdrew because there just wasn't time to discuss it.

I nominated Buck to represent us to the USCF in a reduced membership meeting, and his nomination was seconded and those remaining all said "Aye".

We had lots of feedback on the Sheraton DTC location, room rates and fine playing conditions. Thanks for the positive words.

I also thank Jerry Maier, Rob Hartelt, Cory Foster, and Fred Spell for a great job. We have had meetings and discussed ways to better handle the event for next year. This will be an ongoing discussion. Sixty four registrations on Saturday morning are a load, but we have ironed out the wrinkles and if the same team is selected to serve next year—we have a plan!

I thank everyone for the opportunity to have served as President. It is a big responsibility and I extend my heartfelt thanks for all who have supported me with my vision for improving Colorado Chess. It is our responsibility to support Obi and the new board so the great Colorado Chess tradition is made even better!

Moving Pieces in Palmer Lake

by Fred Eric Spell

August 18th & 19th saw the fourth edition of the Monument Open at the beautiful Inn at Palmer Divide.

Perhaps because of the new time control of game in 90 minutes with a 30 second increment, or perhaps the mix of beautiful weather and a wonderful location, one could see there being the great turn-out of 50 players! To all those who attended, a hearty thank you! I also would be remiss if I didn't thank all the parents for driving their children to the tournament as well.

Congratulations to Eric Montany and DuWayne Langseth for sharing first place with a score of 4.5/5.0! I hope that everyone had an enjoyable time and I look forward to next years, fifth edition, of the Monument Open.

The final standings can be found at this link on the USCF website:

Games From the Pikes Peak Open

By Richard "Buck" Buchanan

Forty-five players arrived to play in beautiful Manitou Springs for the Pikes Peak Open. Eric Montany walked away with clear first place with a perfect 5/5 score. Well done Eric!

Thank you to everyone who played on a gorgeous August 4/5 weekend. Hope to see you again next year!

Tactics Time eBook Coming Soon!

Tactics Time is coming soon to a Kindle near you!

I am proud to announce that I am teaming up with best selling writer, and chess author Anthea Carson to create an awesome new Amazon Kindle Chess Tactics eBook in time for the holidays!

I have heard from many of my newsletter subscribers that they want to be able to do tactics problems on their kindles and other mobile devices such as iPad and iPhones. This eBook will help fulfill that need.

Anthea has a great deal of experience with online publishing, and has published several Kindle books including "The Dark Lake". She is an experienced chess author, teacher and very active player.

This eBook will contain hundreds of tactics from real class player games, with many from Colorado.

All of these problems will be new and original, just like the ones in the Tactics Time column that has run in the Colorado Chess Informant magazine since 2004.

These problems are a lot of fun to solve, and will help improve your board vision, pattern recognition, and tactical skills.

You are going to love it!

To be kept up to date on when this book will be out, subscribe to my free chess tactics e-mail newsletter at <http://www.TacticsTime.com>.

1. Deep Rybka 4.1 gave Ken a double exclamation for 39...Re1+!! Deflecting the White king away from the White queen.
2. There is a lot going on in this position. Black's king isn't very safe, his queen is attacked by the rook on e1, his bishop on f6 is pinned to the king and attacked by 3 pieces, but Fred spells relief with 20. ...Qxe1! which creates threats of his own. White then has to deal with the threat of ...Qxf1# and if 21.Rxe1 Bxd4 leaves black up major material. Black wins a rook.
3. Paul (White) had played 8.Bxf6, and instead of recapturing right away, Isaac (Black) played 8...Qb6 threatening the pawns on f2 and b2. Both players missed that White can defend f2 with the defensive move 9.Bh4! which gets the bishop out of danger, and protecting f2 at the same time, leaving White up a piece. Instead Paul played 10.e3 and Isaac captured the bishop with 10...gxf6
4. 29.Bh7+ overloads the Black king and wins the exchange. In the game Katie played 29.Rxf8 and the game was eventually drawn.
5. Black is threatening to play e4 forking the bishop and knight. White has an interesting way to avoid this threat, and create a threat of his own with 14.Ba6! which adds a second attacker to the b7 pawn and pins it to the Black king. Black cannot take the bishop because of 14...bxa6 15.Qxa6+ Kb8 16.Qxb7# If Black defends the b7 pawn with 14...Na5, then 15.b4 removes this defender. I later screwed up this position thinking I had a brilliant queen sac for mate, which turned out to be a horrible blunder! D'oh!
6. This position has pieces hanging like a wizard's sleeve. The best move is to avoid these distractions with 22.Qg7# which was missed in the game on move 22, but found on move 23.
7. 21...Bc5 drops a pin like a bowling ball on the queen to the White king.
8. 16.h3 traps the knight on g4 who went fishing without a pole.
9. 9...Na5 forks the queen and bishop. If the 10.Qa4 to protect the bishop, then 10...b5 forks the bishop and queen again!

A COLORADO TOUR EVENT

Clearance Sacrifice Problems

by NM Todd Bardwick

(Reprinted with permission of the Author, the United States Chess Federation & Chess Life magazine.)

In the July 2012 edition of the Colorado Chess Informant, we looked at some examples of how a clearance sacrifice can free up a key square that another one of your pieces wants to move to. You can identify a possible clearance sacrifice when you dream about where each one of your pieces want to go. Clearance sacrifices can add a powerful weapon to your tactical weapon's toolbox.

Now it is your turn! Can you figure out how to win these positions by finding the clearance sacrifice?

Answers are on the next page.

#1 Position after 29...Qxe6 (pawn)
White to move

#2 Position after 22.Bxh8 (rook)
Black to move

#3 Position after 18...exf5 (pawn)
White to move

#4 Position after 49...Nf8
White to move

#5 Position after 34...Bb7
White to move

#6 Position after 16...c6

#1

This position occurred between Robert Hess and Alexander Ivanov at the 2008 Foxwoods Open. Note that if White's d-pawn was gone, Bc3+ would be decisive for White. White even gains a tempo by sacrificing the pawn to clear the diagonal by playing 30.d5! Qxd5 31.Rf7+ (not quite as good is 31.Bc3+ Kh6 32.Rxf8 winning a piece) Black Resigns because 31...Qxf7 32.Bc3+ wins Black's queen.

#2

This position occurred in Hastings in 1901 between Juan Corzo and Jose Raul Capablanca. Black clears out the f4 square for his knight by playing 22...f3! 23.gxf3 Nf4 24.Be5 Rg2+ 25.Kf1 Rf2+ 26.Ke1 Nd3+ forking the king and bishop.

#3

White cleverly noticed that if he could move his e5 knight to c4, he could trap the Black queen because his g3 bishop would cover the c7 retreat square. But his light-squared bishop is in the way. White played 19.Bxf7+! Rxf7 20.Nc4 and Black's queen is trapped! Mikhail Botvinnik played White in this game against G. Stepanov in Leningrad in 1930.

#4

White has a powerful attack on the 7th rank and if his queen could get to g7, it would be mate. Notice that his rook blocks the queen from moving to g7 across the 7th rank and his knight blocks a queen invasion from the g or h file. 50.Nf5! Threatening 51.Rh7+ and 52.Qg7 mate and if 50...Nxd7 51.Qh2+ Kg8 52.Qg3+ and 53.Qg7 mate. 50...exf5 51.Qh2+ Kg8 52.Qg3+ with mate coming on g7. This game was played between Anatoly Karpov and Istvan Csom in Bad Lauterberg, 1977.

#5

This position occurred in St. Petersburg in 1914 between chess greats Emanuel Lasker and Jose Raul Capablanca. White controls the open h-file and has a nice knight outpost on e6. In order to overpower Black, he brings his other knight into the game. He clears out the e4 square for the knight and invades by playing 35.e5! dxe5 36.Ne4 Nd5 37.N6c5 Bc8 If Black's rook stays on the second rank to defend the bishop, 38.Nd6+ forks the king and bishop. 38.Nxd7 Bxd7 39.Rh7

This position is from one of the most famous games of all time between Wilhelm Steinitz and Curt von Bardeleben in Hastings, 1895. White has a safer king and a lead in development. He needs to find a way to cash in on these advantages quickly before Black can safeguard his king and complete his development by playing something like ...Kf7, ...Rhe8, and ...Nd5. Steinitz cleared the path for his knight by sacrificing his pawn by playing 17.d5! cxd5 18.Nd4 Kf7 19.Ne6 Rhc8 20.Qg4 g6 21.Ng5+ Ke8 22.Rxe7+ Kf8 23.Rf7+ Kg8 24.Rg7+ Kh8 25.Rxh7+ Black Resigned (or 1-0)

Steinitz showed this variation after the game with a mate in ten moves: 25...Kg8 26.Rg7+ Kh8 27.Qh4+ Kxg7 28.Qh7+ Kf8 29.Qh8+ Ke7 30.Qg7+ Ke8 31.Qg8+ Ke7 32.Qf7+ Kd8 33.Qf8+ Qe8 34.Nf7+ Kd7 35.Qd6 mate.

Bardeleben didn't actually resign, he left the room and never came back. Talk about poor sportsmanship!*

Summer Games From the Panera Bread-Powers Tournaments

by Fred Eric Spell

The following games and pictures are from the June, July and August monthly tournaments that are held at the Panera Bread restaurant on Powers boulevard in Colorado Springs every Wednesday evening.

There is also a Thursday monthly tournament held at the Panera Bread restaurant on Academy boulevard as well.

I want to thank Dean Brown for sacrificing his Wednesdays & Thursdays to Direct both tournaments.

2012 USCF Delegates Meeting

by Colorado Delegate,
Richard "Buck" Buchanan

The US Open was held this August in Vancouver, Washington, across the Columbia from Portland. The tournament was well attended and was won by Mexican GM Manuel Leon Hoyos, GM Dmitry Gurevich of Chicago, and California FM John Bryant, all with scores of 8 - 1. Coloradan Michael Mulyar was on a top board in the last round but lost to Gurevich. Kurt Kondracki scored 2.5 / 6 in a tough Denker Tournament of HS Champions, while Jackson Chen racked up a fine 4 points in the Barber tournament of K-8 Champs, losing only to rated masters. Other Colorado players were Paul Covington, Josh Samuel, Andy Pineda, Gary Bagstad, Dean Brown and Kathy Schneider. We met some old friends there: Jon and Barb Fortune, Hans Morrow, and former CSCA President Andy Rea, now of Virginia.

The Delegates meeting went calmly, with few controversies. Reports indicated that USCF is out of the financial woods, with the legal fights finally at an end and most of the bills paid. This past fiscal year we made a surplus of $250K, which on top of $200K from last year is very encouraging. This coming fiscal year will probably not match these gains, as we have more expenses with the Olympiad and some international tournaments.

The biggest issue at the meeting involved a change in the formal Board of Directors of the organization from the Board of Delegates to the Executive Board. There were practical and legal reasons for doing this, which probably no one will care much about except Delegates who take themselves too seriously. It looks like there will be another rating list coming up, this time for blitz chess (5-minute chess, with variations) and - Oh, Horror! - it looks like those of us who still get the paper copy of Chess Life will no longer get our ratings on the mailing label! The magazine is now full color, and believe it or not it's actually cheaper because printers are dropping prices due to less demand. Lots of motions were made that got referred to various committees. Some were about the setting of digital clocks, promotional proposals, team tournaments, avoiding cheating with electronic toys, etc.

I was happy to represent Colorado and have the chance to see old friends and participate in the running of our national organization.

Aloha

by Joe Fromme

Participating on the Board was an interesting ride, thank you voters! The experience of receiving logical input from my committee members was very much appreciated by me on a personal level. Obviously, each individual, out of their own time, accepted the task, meditated on it, and crafted well thought out objective opinions. Thank You Committed Members!

Working closely with Paul Covington was a privilege because people like him are so rare in this crazy mixed up world. He is honest, works, not only hard, but also smart. I know him to be an Honorable Man. Not being on the Board, an excuse to come over to his house will need to be contrived. I hope he can be tricked...maybe that infernal Ostrich face on his Skype will work as a ruse.

Regarding the new VP, recently I developed a surprise unwanted health issue which necessitated my not continuing on as Vice President. I have twice met with Obi Ikeako and essentially feel him to be a very intelligent and courteous man. I congratulate him on his victory and sincerely wish him the best in all his future endeavors! To the membership I say...Aloha!!

Pueblo's Corner of the Chess World

by Liz (Wood) Nickovich

Pueblo chess chugs along, still active two nights a week (Tuesday & Thursday) at the Daily Grind. It has been really busy this summer...we consistently had three to four boards each night, not always the same people, and definitely not the same playing strength, but a fun thing to do.

As I'm sure some of you have noticed, Pueblo has had no tournaments this year. Jerry Maier's support over the past number of years as TD is even more valued in the lack thereof than in the performance...I really miss you, Jerry! I am currently in the process of becoming a director. I just have to pass this LITTLE test with trick questions thrown in! Hopefully, the Pueblo tournament scene will pick up as the year moves on.

This year has been a growing experience for me...I pulled back from chess emotionally during the first part of the year: new marriages do that. However, it also gave me some time to reflect and make choices about the next few years of my life. I am even more invigorated in my passion for chess than before I took this break from organizing. I'm excited again!

However, I have one problem here in Pueblo: the lack of any kind of a scholastic program. If someone has ideas or plans, please let me know. Pueblo's scene is blue collar at base, and multi-ethnic.

Regarding the Prison Program, we only had one tournament this summer at the Pueblo Youth Center, but are geared up and ready for this next year (half day working with the kids, followed by a tournament). I am excited about the success of the program because, for the first time in all the time we've been doing this, a single kid (who didn't know piece-movement before he ended up in PYC) won three sequential tournaments. I was allowed to give him a small chess set (it went into his properties until he's out of the facility) to take home with him when he is released "sometime soon." I hope he continues to work at what he has become good at!

I am slowly making my way through the intricacies of the Department of Corrections. Preparatory to being accepted into the Volunteer Programs, I had a background check, application for not only me, but also my program (as yet undefined except as "chess"). I then participated in a mandatory all-day workshop about what is involved with interacting with prisoners; tough!!! The next step is a two-hour walk-through of the individual facility where I plan to work—La Vista Women's Prison here in Pueblo; that will happen at the beginning of October. Maybe by Christmas I can have things actually happening...though I must admit the thought of 500 women does intimidate me a little!

If any one remembers Chris Hendrickson's prison program, I would like to know what she did and how. Please contact me at chessliz@comcast.net or 719-696-8389. It might give me more and better ideas to create an effective chess program. As it stands now, I only know I will be teaching women how to play, and trying to create a chess culture within the prison.

Dusty Hats, Clipboards & Old Men

by Joe Fromme

Many moons ago, the Chicago Bears playing defense had six seconds on the clock, and were down by about 30 points. The old man, (coach), gave orders to let the clock run out. A Bear's Linebacker abruptly called a timeout. A fellow teammate yelled at him asking what he was doing. He replied, "I just wanna hit that guy one more time!" That heart is what made Dick Butkus the greatest professional football player of all time. I seriously doubt he even considered a squeak emanating from the old man with his dusty hat and clipboard.

Savor your instinct and individuality for if you forsake it now to please others, you are only practicing to be old. You have a choice in each game whether to resign or perhaps resign later, and never forget ...it is your choice. If you mess up and feel too upset to play then by all means, resign. If you mess up, but want to continue to play, then do so. If you mess up, and want lunch then resign. If you mess up but desire continued mental exercise, then play on. You paid an entry fee to play chess, not to please others!

Every game is unique in circumstances, however, I must mention what I call the "Ride Excuse." Certain players, after achieving a substantial material and/or positional advantage (often in the final round), will lobby you for your resignation. You ask why. Their ride is leaving, the airplane is taking off soon, they must work early morning hours, etcetera, etcetera, etcetera. These are merely pathetic requests made by obviously irresponsible and clearly self-centered people. Play or do not play, but do it for yourself, and not those silly old men.
